Alpha

The generous proportions of the wooden body in balance on the thin and essential base confer surprising aesthetics to the collection combined to a high storage capacity. The modularity of the body of the containers, front-backrests and structure and their re-composition according to a mix of carefully selected materials and finishes transform the various elements, thus adapting them to any needs of contemporary living. The variety of the configurations of the single containers (high, low, with doors or drawers) allows at the time a single positioning or unusual combinations, as to prelude a system's logic.
